NOWAK

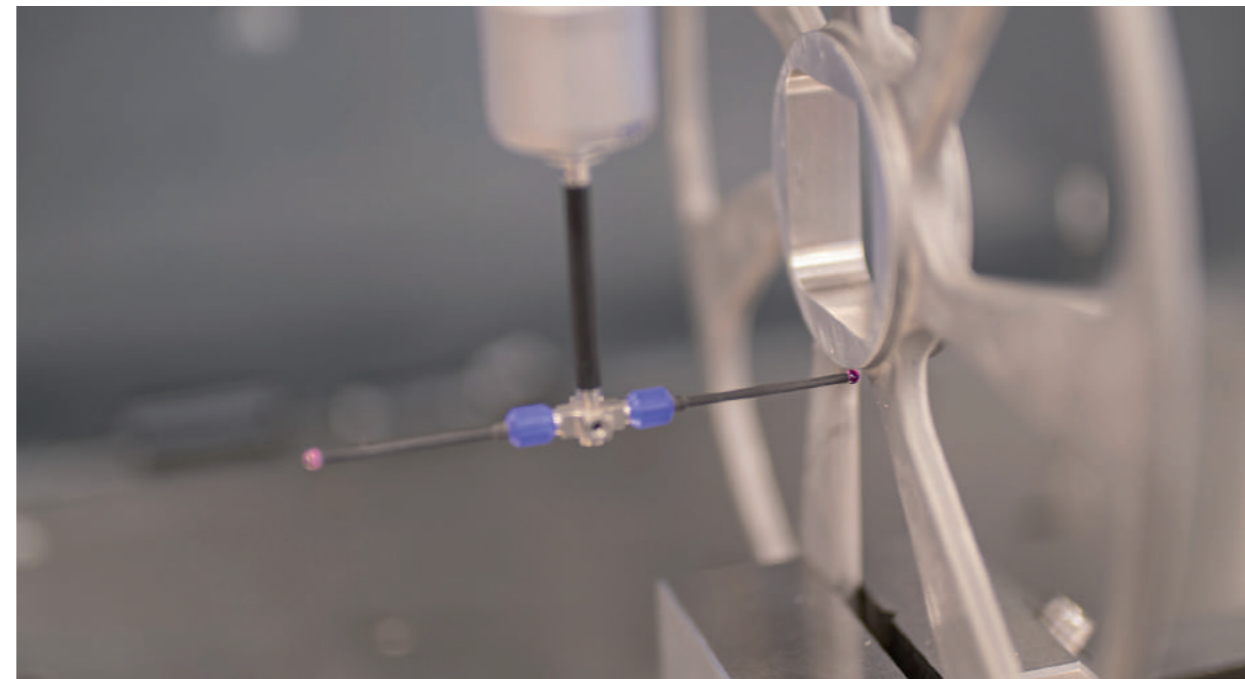

Precision investment casting

We take pride in our expertise in creating and developing your made-to-measure precision-cast parts.

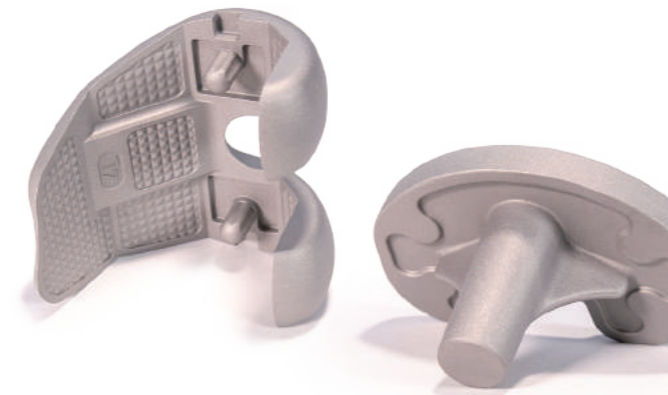

Specialist in steel, stainless steel and superalloy parts, Nowak has been sharing its commitment to investment casting with clients in France and throughout the world since 1984.

Our lost-wax casting process can be used to do away with the need for finishing operations and produce complex geometries with high dimensional accuracy and superb surface

We propose a support tailored to your projects: design support from conception to industrialization, creation of metal prototypes, end-to-end service.

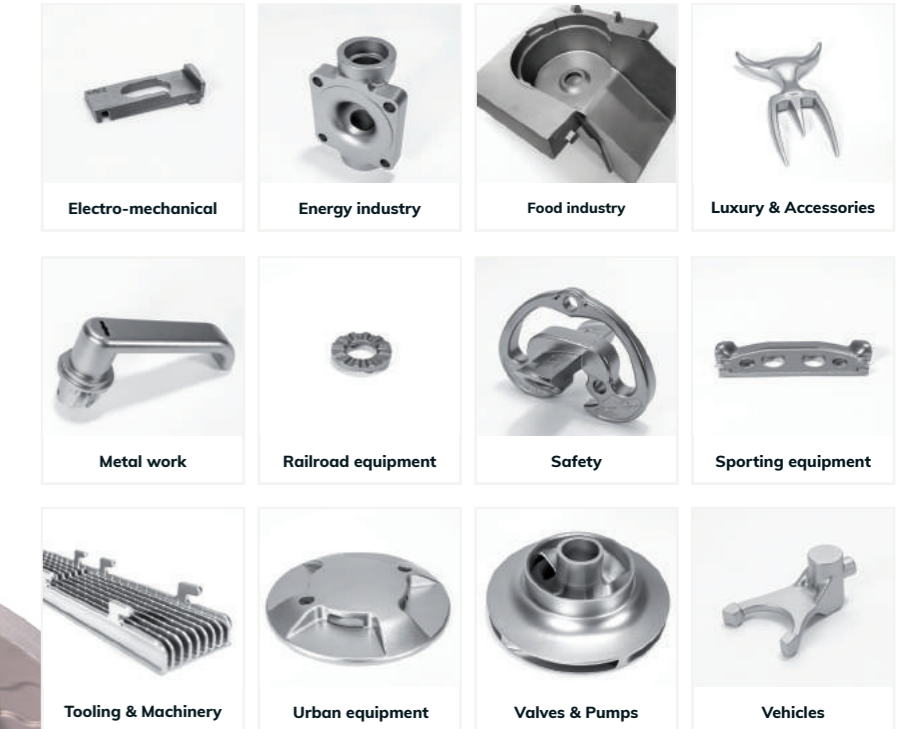

An efficient process: design flexibility associated with dimensional accuracy make it possible to manufacture multi-functional parts.

Part design is improved and the dimensions remains unchanged when the casting is repeated over a period of time.

Our industrial business sectors

Our expertise is recognized by clients in a wide range of fields.

Our industrial production unit routinely manufactures prototypes, small, medium and large production runs on over 1,300 different types of parts every year.

Our medical sector expertise

Nowak has developed a separate, specially dedicated medical device production unit, which can, in particular, produce Cobalt Chrome orthopaedic implants.

The production unit is ISO 13485 certified and meets the stringent requirements of clients in the medical sector.
